

APPROVE BILL HITTING FOX VALLEY BUSESSES

Senate Favorable to Placing Jitneys Under Control of Railroad Board.

PASS BUCK TO GOVERNOR

Legislature Dodges Responsibility for Removal of Unfit Officers.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison — Regulation of motor buses operating in competition with railroads was favored by the state Thursday when the Perry bill was ordered to third reading by a vote of 21 to 11.

The bill would place all motor buses under the regulation of the railroad commission as common carriers. The rule of necessity of convenience as applied to carriers will put many bus lines out of business,
opponent of the measure said.

The bill particularly affects the Fox river valley where the motor buses are said to have almost stifled the interurban lines.

The senate endorsed the Skogmo
legislative initiative and referendum
bill after voting down an amendment proposed by Senator Henry Huber, broadening the scope of the bill to include all officers. This amendment in the form of a bill was rejected
some weeks ago by the senate.

The senate favored legislative control of appointive offices but placed the responsibility of ejecting officials in the hands of the governor rather than the legislature.

The assembly bill providing for the interpellation and recall of all appointive state officers was amended to provide the legislature may, by a majority vote, recommend dismissal to the governor. The original bill gave the actual ouster power to the legislature. The amendment was offered by Senator Henry Roebbe and the bill was engrossed by a vote of 19 to 13.

The assembly discussed for a long time and finally passed by a vote of 64 to 19 the budget appropriation bill for the state department of agriculture, carrying with it an allotment of $802,000. Objection was raised because the bill provided for a $50,000
addition to the grandstand at the state fair grounds and a tunnel under the race track costing $35,000.

The assembly killed the Holly bill which required all manufacturers of shoes to label the percentage of leather and other materials used. The bill was aimed to prevent the selling of paper shoes as leather. The majority said the bill would cause a hardship on Wisconsin shoe manufacturers.

"ONE BUCK" BILL PASSES ASSEMBLY

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison — "The one buck bill"
passed the assembly at a late session
Wednesday and will become a law
should it secure the approval of Governor John J. Blaine.

Deer hunters are prohibited from killing does and are allowed but one buck under the provisions of the bill.
The deer season is also made to conform with the Michigan season, Nov.
13 to 23.

The bill was recommended by most gun clubs of the state as the best means of saving Wisconsin deer from extermination at the hands of the 70,000 hunters invading the forests
each year.

The assembly killed two bills fostered by the railway brotherhoods of the state and a third bill may have been saved from the provisions of the appearance of a subcommittee which held it over for two days under the rules. One of the bills required all automobiles to stop before attempting a railroad grade crossing.

The attempt of the state to assume control of unclaimed deposits in state banks was killed by the assembly
though having the backing of the state banking commission. The deposits are said to total many thousands of dollars.

CHILD KILLED WHEN HE RUNS IN FRONT OF CAR

Madison — Maurice Steinmetz, 5, Madison, is dead from injuries received Wednesday afternoon when an automobile driven by William Kanouss, Madison, ran him down in the street. The boy dodged from behind a wagon in front of the machine,
Kanouss said.

The dead boy is the son of Eugene Steinmetz.

COMPLETE PROBE OF AIR MAIL SERVICE

Minneapolis. — Four all mail officials who arrived here secretly, have completed an investigation of conditions at the Twin City air mail field, it was learned Thursday.

The investigation was ordered as a result of charges by Pilot C. C. Evernole of Chicago, who saved his life by leaping with a parachute from a defective plane last winter he claimed.
The air mail officials were expected in Chicago Thursday.

BOSS AND IDOL OF GERMANY

This remarkable snapshot, just received from Germany, shows the "boss of Germany," Hugo Stinnes, and Frau Stinnes chatting in the street with General von Hindenburg, former commander-in-chief of the German armies and still the idol of the German people. Stinnes is reputed to be the richest man in the world. He owns scores of mines, factories and newspapers in Germany. This is the first picture of his wife to reach America.

CHANGE IN PEACE RESOLUTION KILLS GERMANY'S HOPES

Resolution Will Be Amended to Retain Control of German Property.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — President Harding desires passage of the Knox peace resolution within reasonable time, it developed Thursday following a conference between Harding and Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee. At the same time it was understood Harding refused to indicate any preference between the form of the resolution as it was passed by the senate and the form which Porter,
who has charge of it in the house,
favors.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C. — President Harding wants the Knox resolution declaring a state of peace between the United States and Germany passed by the house but he has found it necessary to approve certain changes in it from the form in which it was passed by the senate.

The changes are fundamental and will come as a surprise to those Germans residing in America who have believed the Knox resolution would automatically end the powers of the alien property custodian and that the American government hereafter would simply hold the German property without exercising any of the broad powers of sale or supervision which were entrusted to it by the trading with the enemy act.

The language of the Knox resolution as passed by the senate simply says that all enemy property now in the possession of the American government "shall be retained." But it develops that the alien property custodian, Colonel Thomas W. Miller, advised President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty that certain German interests were of the impression that as soon as the Knox resolution is passed the American government would be prohibited from selling any German property or otherwise administering it.

Sell German Property
The fact is the trading with the enemy act permits the alien property
custodian to sell at any time any German property held by our government. Sometimes when the property is deteriorating or some other potent reason arises making a sale necessary, the alien property custodian disposes of the property and holds the proceeds in trust. All this money and unsold property is held by the alien property custodian until congress specifically provides for its return to Germany. Congress has not tackled the subject yet for the good reason that German property held by the American government is a sort of club which is held by Washington over Germany in the event that claims such as that growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania are not satisfied. This will be held in abeyance therefore until the United States either negotiates a new treaty with Germany or ratifies the Versailles treaty with reservations.

Dislike Repeal Phrase
There is one point which has occasioned considerable comment and which has produced honest differences of opinion among the Republicans themselves. It is the phrase whereby the original declaration of war is to be repealed. A few Republican senators and a large number of Republicans seem to think there is no necessity for the repeal clause, because it may imply an apology or expression of regret and that a simple declaration of a state of peace is sufficient.

Chairman Porter of the House committee on foreign affairs seems to feel that the repeal phrase is superfluous
and might lead to legal tangles. Representative Mondell, House leader, shares that view. The fear is that Germans may always look upon that repeal as an expression of regret or apology or change of heart on the part of the United States. Therefore wars have come to an end without repealing any war legislation. The ratification of a treaty has automatically ended the state of war.

BLAME PUBLIC FOR SHORTAGE OF COAL

By United Press Leased Wire
New York. — A threatened "fuel famine" for next winter, resulting from the public's refusal to lay in reserve supplies now, was discussed Thursday at the opening of the annual convention of the National Coal association.

The possible bituminous shortage,
it was said, would be due to the fact that mines are being forced to shut down through lack of orders. When the buying increases toward fall, it was pointed out, there would be no
surplus to meet the demand.

Complete publicity in the coal industry through government channels
was advocated by Secretary Hoover,
in a letter read to the convention.

Senator Frelinghuysen, author of a bill now before congress authorizing such action, also informed the association it would be desirable.

A decision was reached to seek legislation removing from the interstate commerce commission the power to allocate coal cars other than on a pro-rata basis.

CAPTURE BANDITS WHEN CAR WRECKS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Three bank robbers, fleeing after holding up the Division State bank here, were captured Thursday when their auto turned over. One bandit was wounded by police fire. A fourth robber escaped.

The four men entered the bank
shortly after it opened Thursday and drove officials into a rear room. After scooping up all of the money in sight
—about $10,000, they fled.

As the auto was speeding down the street, Detective Sergeant William Russell, who knew nothing of the robbery, called for the auto to halt.
The robbers did not stop. Russell commandeered a passing auto and gave chase, emptying his revolver at the bandits.

The robbers' machine turned over
as it rounded a corner. The four robbers started to run. Russell wound up William Danigan and captured two others. The fourth man held up another auto and made his escape in it. The loot was found in the overturned machine.

Taft Urges Fair Trial Of Convention System

MENNONITES WILL SEEK PROMISED LAND IN MEXICO

Great Exodus of Religious Order From Canada Will Be Started Soon.

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul. — Between 15,000 and 20-000 Mennonites will begin an exodus from Canada to Mexico within the next three weeks, railroad officials here said Thursday. They will spend more than $1,000,000 in railroad fares.
Negotiations for transportation will be closed probably this week.

The members of the order, who claim they have been persecuted by the Canadian government, will seek asylum in Mexico, their agents said.
Passengers, livestock, farm equipment and household goods will make up special trains to cross the country from north to south.

For several weeks the railroad
passenger agents of various lines have been in keener competition for the business. Just what roads will benefit from the caravan has not been announced. Not since the days of the flight of the Mormons from Nauvoo,
Ill., to Utah, has there been such a massed movement of a religious order
on the American continent.

Rev. J. F. Wiebe of Herbert, Sask., was here Thursday arranging for transportation of hundreds from various points in Canada. They will settle in western Durango, Mexico, and the Mexican government will give them free transportation from the Mexican border, it was said.

BREWERY MANAGER SENT TO JAIL FOR 10 MONTHS

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee. — Herbert C. LaBahn, manager and part owner of the Port Washington brewery, Thursday began serving a 10-months sentence in the house of correction for violation of the prohibition law.

La Bahn pleaded guilty to a charge
of having manufactured beer containing more than one-half of one per cent
alcohol and was fined $2,000.

Political Conventions Essential to Life of Political Parties.

By WILLIAM H. TAFT
Copyright, 1921, Public Ledger Co.
Philadelphia. — So far as one can judge from the newspaper reports of the opinions of the supreme court of the United States in the Newberry case, the supreme court judges were unanimous in holding that the verdict
and judgment of the district court could not be upheld because of errors of law made by that court in the trial
and in the charge.
Four of the judges
held that the statute
of congress on which the indictment was based was invalid
in that congress had no power to exercise control over primaries provided by state law for the selection of candidates for the United States senatorship or to provide punishment for violation of the state regulations of those primaries. Four of the judges held that congress did have that power.
One, Mr. Justice McKenna held that the manner in which congress attempted to exercise such power was not valid; but reserved the question whether congress might not, by specific provision, take under its control
primaries for the selection of party candidates for congress and for the senate. A resolution to amend the constitution so as to give congress specific power to provide for primaries in the case of the election of congressmen and of senators has been introduced in the senate. Its adoption will require a two-thirds vote in each house, and the concurrence of three-fourths of the legislatures of the states. If Mr. Justice McKenna's intimation is to be taken as foreshadowing a majority vote of the supreme court in favor of the existing power
of congress to take under its control
the manner of selecting candidates for congressional and senatorial elections, a constitutional amendment is unnecessary. The same object can be secured by an act of congress. Which the result is to be obtained by constitutional amendment or statute,
however, a most important question
is as to the form which the new provision shall be given.

When congress was aroused to the danger of corruption and intimidation
at congressional elections in New York City and in the south, it passed the federal election law, which after two decades, was repealed in Mr.
Cleveland's second administration.

Chief Justice E.D. White Dies Early Thursday

Head of United States Supreme Court Succumbs After Short Illness.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — Chief Justice Edward Douglas White of the United States supreme court, died here at 2 o'clock
Thursday morning.

The chief justice did not arouse
from the coma into which he sank late Tuesday after an operation the preceding Friday.

Mrs. White and two nieces, Miss
Anne Montgomery and Miss Mary Broussard, were at his bedside when the chief justice passed away.

A Catholic priest was present also.
Justice White was 76 years old.
More than twenty-seven years he served on the supreme court and has been chief justice since 1910.

His death cast a pall of sorrow over official Washington. He was one of the best loved men in public life.

An associate justice with an often expressed wish, the body of the chief justice will be laid to rest without the stately ceremonies usually accorded a high government official.

Private funeral services which will be attended by President Harding, members of the cabinet, congress and other officials will be held in St.
Matthew Catholic church at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The burial which also will be private, will be in a cemetery here.

Associate justices of the supreme court will act as honorary pallbearers and the services will be in charge of the marshal of the court.

Monsignor Lee, pastor of St.
Matthews, a close friend of White
for many years, will officiate.

The body will remain at the White home until shortly before the services in the church.

Official Washington is in mourning for the chief justice. The senate was to adjourn until after the funeral services. The house was not in session and adjournment until after the funeral probably will be taken Friday.

Taft as Successor?
Washington. — Talk of a successor to Chief Justice White of the supreme court Thursday centered on William Howard Taft, former president.

At the same time the impression prevailed that President Harding would be in no hurry about naming a new justice, since he has almost five months in which to act.

The court takes its summer recess
in June and does not convene until October.

Selection of Secretary of State
Hughes is also being discussed.
Hughes, however, is in the middle of a big task of putting America's foreign affairs in order and it is regarded as doubtful whether Harding would care to see him leave the cabinet and return to the bench.

BADGER DRY LEADER IS FACING ARREST

Hutton Charged With Violation of State Corrupt Practice Law.

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee. — Police Thursday
sought R. P. Hutton, state superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, on a charge of violating the state corrupt practices act.

Circuit Judge Levi H. Bancroft, of the fifth judicial district, composing Grant, Lafayette, Richland, Iowa and Crawford counties, was the complainant.

District Attorney Zabel issued a warrant for his arrest.

It is charged that Hutton circulated a letter in the district during the campaign saying Judge Bancroft was opposed to prohibition in the general assembly and that he not only opposed dry laws but ridiculed men who appeared for them.

Bancroft charged the letter declared he was opposed to woman suffrage and argued against it in 1911-12.

The judge denied the charges in the circular.

CHESS PRODIGY FINDS MINNEAPOLIS IS EASY

Minneapolis, Minn. — Sammy Rzecz-ewski, eight-year-old Polish chess wizard, didn't find a difficult opponent in Minneapolis. He retired a dozen challengers simultaneously last night including his six-year-old rival, "Buddy" Benn of Minneapolis.

The latter was beaten after the first few moves but Sammy let him continue to a decisive defeat.

CLOSE ELLIS ISLAND TO KEEP OUT TYPHUS

New York. — Ellis island was put under quarantine Thursday, following the death Wednesday night of an immigrant of typhus.

More than 1,700 immigrants who might have come in contact with the diseased, were returned to Hoffman island, where they will be confined under observation for 21 days.

Meanwhile Ellis island was being fumigated and "cleaned up." It will probably be several days before the station again opens to receive immigrants.

This was the first time in history
that Ellis island has been quarantined.

A. F. O. L. HEAD?

This is John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America,
who, it is reported in labor circles,
will be a candidate to succeed Samuel Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor.

FILIPINOS CAN GIVE POINTERS TO U. S. LAWMAKERS

Islanders Have Proven Their Ability to Take Care of Themselves.

By CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Manila. — To debate whether the people of the Philippine islands are or are not fit for self-government is about as profitable now as to debate
whether water ought to run down hill.
Ice be cold or ginger hot in the mouth.
Fit or unfit, they have been doing it
these four years and six months, absolutely, incontestably, without let or hindrance. Learned gentlemen at home that say they can't do it are like the lawyer in that old, long-whiskered story about the man in jail.
"They can't put you in jail for that;
they can't do it, you know." "Perhaps they can't, but here I am," says
the man.

These four years and six months
the only real governing power in these islands has been the Philippine legislature, elected by the Philippine people and composed exclusively of Phi-lipinos. For several days together I haunted the sessions of this body to learn in what respects (other than white drill clothes and cafe du lait
complexions) it differed from the legislative bodies I had known in my own native land.

The white drill clothes, incidentally strike you as climatic wisdom. Manila being by common repute a hot place and 14 degrees from the equator. And yet as a matter of fact, it is never so hot as Washington from the middle of June to the middle of September; 85 degrees is about as high as the mercurial sun, doing its best in these parts, can ever raise the thermometer.
White drill would be much more appropriate in a Washington or New York July than it is in Manila, but a congressman who would appear in the oven of the house clad in a Manila suit, cool, comfortable, comely and appropriate, would probably be defeated by his constituent. It would be just like wearing a straw hat in New York
after September 15.

There are twenty-four members of the senate and ninety-one members of the house, mostly elected by districts; big districts for the senate, smaller districts for the house. Senators hold office for six years and representatives for three, but half of the senate goes out every three years, thereby ensuring the nuisance of hold-overs; but this is the Jones law
and not the work of the Filipinos.

Members of either house can be and usually are almost as dilatory in assembly as members of either house of the American congress; but the Filipinos have the better excuse for the reason that their sessions seldom

FARMERS FLOCK TO TOWN TO HEAR BABY BRIDE STORY

Thirteen-Year-Old Wife Is Accused of Slaying Her Stepchild.

By United Press Leased Wire
Farmington, Mo. — Folks in the Ozarks booked up their mules Thursday and drove into town to hear Letta
Parson's story in court.

Most everybody in the Ozarks knows about Letta.

For thirteen years she was no-body's child, just running around Farmington and the countryside, without father or mother. She never learned to read or write—Letta is just "po white."

She shortly after her thirteenth birthday, John Parson, a woodchopper married her and brought her home to mother his two children.

Letta is being tried for the alleged murder of one of them. Five days after she was married she blew the top of six-year-old Lilly Parson's head off with a shotgun. The child bride—she didn't look it Thursday, with her skinny pigtails and her scared eyes, says she didn't make out to kill Lilly. She says she was playing on the floor with the children and didn't know the gun was loaded.

But Johnny Parson, her other step child, says she killed his sister because she "acted up" when Letta was trying to comb her hair.

Then there are folks who say Letta
isn't such a child as her thirteen years indicate. They say she was "getting even" with John Parson because he trapezed around with another woman
right after he had married Letta.
There is a chance the Ozark folks who know all about Letta, won't get a chance to hear her story. The case may be heard behind closed doors.

But they are leaving spring planting and coming anyway, because, although Letta is a queer little creature
—wild as a hawk some say—there are a passel 'o folks who feel right sorry for her.

She always was "nobody's child."

ONLY 8 MEN LEFT TO MAKE CHICAGO DRY

Chicago. — This city, already as wet
as 4 per cent beer, can make it, was left Thursday with eight prohibition enforcement agents, following the take-up in the department here. Sixteen other agents were entrusted with the job of enforcing the prohibition law in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Seventy-six agents were let out,
some because of being under suspicion of irregularities and others because of insufficient funds to pay their salaries, according to Ralph Stone, retiring regional prohibition director.

The forces will not be augmented
again until July 1, when new funds will be available. John Kjellander by that time will have succeeded Stone
as prohibition director for the lake states.

DAHL INCOME TAX BILL OPPOSED BY COMMITTEE

Madison, Wis. — The seven million dollar Dahl income tax bill was slated for killing by the legislative joint finance committee at an executive session held Wednesday night. The bill raised exemptions and applied
higher rates, excluding corporations.
The committee majority took the position the big tax boost was unnecessary at this time.

Presbyterians Fight For Blue Sunday Laws

By United Press Leased Wire
Winona Lake, Ind. — A concerted drive for Sunday blue laws, and a move to check wild open sabbath agitation was started here Thursday.

Church members of all creeds and faiths were asked to fight "the million dollar propaganda against our Christian sabbath," and to urge civil authorities to prohibit Sunday amusements.

The blue law question was thrown before the Presbyterian general as-

Briand Sends Note to Germany Protesting Against Fight- ing in Silesia.

BOTH PREMIERS STAND PAT

Frenchman Is Caustic in Reference to Lloyd George's Attitude.

Paris. — Great Britain has warned
France that she will seriously object to French occupation of the Ruhr valley in event Germany invades Upper Silesia, it was learned Thursday.

The French foreign office replied
that it could make no promises.
The British charge d'affaires here Wednesday asked whether France had any intention of occupying the Ruhr
in case the Germans entered Upper Silesia to proceed against the Polish insurgents there.

Great Britain, it was said, would seriously object to any such action by France.

The foreign office replied that France would be unable to ignore any contingency that might require occupation of the Ruhr. It was unable to make any promises, it said.

London. — The Franco-British war of words continued Thursday.

Each backed by regiments of newspapers, the premiers of the two nations directed a heavy fire of statement and opinion on the proper division of Upper Silesia between Germany and Poland.

Premier Lloyd George's offensive of Wednesday when he reiterated his assertion that Germany had as much right as Poland to invade Silesia, was met by a prompt counter-attack.

LINCOLN SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOW WHAT THEY CAN DO

Parents Show Keen Interest in Exhibit of School Work Wednesday Night.

The annual exhibit of work in art, drawing, sewing, manual training, home planning, magazine study and other work of the pupils of Lincoln school was held Wednesday afternoon and evening in the school building. More than 300 interested and enthusiastic parents and friends attended the exhibit.

The manual training exhibit in the basement consisted of practically all of the work accomplished by the pupils from the fifth grade up. They were taboretts, camp stools, ash trays, book stands, with designs which were worked out in the drawing classes, electric table lamps, waste baskets, hall trees, and chests with upholstered tops. There were other miscellaneous articles which were made earlier in the year for practice.

Members of the eighth grade were given a half hour a week during the year at stitching. Results of their study were shown in the form of funnels, cookie cutters and small scoops. The idea of the work was merely to acquaint the pupils with the fundamentals of sewing and tin working.

Attention of visitors was called to the window screens which were lined up around the room. The screens were made by the basement windows. Each window was constructed with the mortise and tenon joint and the screen was drawn and nailed without the aid of machinery.

There was much favorable comment on the sewing which was exhibited in one of the rooms. There were dresses, kimonos, doll clothes, aprons, and handbags. Several of the children had made combination handbags and aprons. The work was shown in groups, the product of each class being together. In connection with the sewing exhibit, the visitors were shown cost books which were kept up by pupils and any of the girls would have been able to tell just what her articles cost her.

Several rooms were given over to the art drawing accomplishment of the younger pupils. There were a number of specimens of attractive home drawing. The pupils are taught early just what the arrangement of property has to do with its appearance. The work is carried on into the English classes where the pupils write themes on the city or the home beautiful.

Some artistic table sets were shown. All were simply made, but contained a bit of design or color which made them attractive. The classes in painting showed flowerpots which were made beautiful by application of the right proportion of colors. The magazine study exhibit contained outlines which showed how the work is being done. The outline contained the names of several good magazines and what can be gained from each one.

A musical program was given by the pupils in the evening. It consisted of songs and instrumental numbers.

SPLENDID RECITAL IN CONSERVATORY

Lawrence Students Show Wonderful Ability in Excellent Program.

One of the most delightful conservatory recitals of the year was presented Wednesday evening in Peabody hall when advance and graduate students from the studio of Ludolph Arens presented an ensemble recital assisted by the Pullinwider string quartet. The program opened with a finished rendition of the beautiful Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 G major, played by Doris Brenner, Irma Sherman, Helen Hanson and the string quartet, directed by Prof. L. A. Arens.

Miss Irma Sherman played Beethoven's Concerto in G major, accompanied by Miss Viola Buntrock at the piano and the string quartet. Reincke's improvisation for two pianos on a gavotte by Gluck was played by Miss Lucile Meusel and Miss Genevieve Washburn.

Miss Margaret Austin and Miss Viola Buntrock played an artistic rendition of Schytte's barcarolle in F major for two pianos. The fascinating étude in chromatic thirds by Saint Saens was played in a masterful way by Miss Irma Sherman and Miss Helen Hanson.

Miss Helen Hanson and Miss Margaret Engler gave a beautiful rendition of the familiar "Invitation to the Dance" by Weber-Weingartner.

One of the most attractive numbers of the evening was the capriccio brillante in B minor which was played in a remarkably brilliant manner by Miss Lucile Meusel accompanied by Miss Viola Buntrock at the second piano and the string quartet.

The recital was concluded with the majestic suite for two pianos by Arensky played by the Misses Lillian Braden and Viola Buntrock, both graduate students of the conservatory.

BLAME U. S. FOR QUALITY OF COAL
Dealers Fight Bill Providing for Marking Coal With Number of Heat Units.

Madison, Wis.—That the Pierson bill requiring all coal and coke dealers to issue a statement with each sale of coal or coke giving the British thermal units and ash content in the coal or coke is not only impracticable but impossible was the general statement of a score or more of witnesses who appeared against the bill before the assembly state affairs committee Wednesday afternoon.

Both the B. T. U. and ash content varies so appreciably under different conditions, it was stated that it would be impossible to comply with the proposed law and to even attempt it would mean such a financial burden that the consumer would be compelled to pay that the purpose would be defeated.

It was stated that the bill was probably conceived because of the inferior coal that has been shipped to and sold in Wisconsin in the last two or three years. The dealers readily admitted they had been compelled to take whatever coal was furnished them instead of being able to select the best coal. This, it was declared, was due to the war and the government regulations which required that all coal in certain districts be pooled.

This brought the poor coal from little mines into the pool. In many instances it was coal that could not be marketed via the docks because the small mines could not get it out fast enough to fill a boat. But with the pooling order of the government this coal was dumped in with the other, and as a result the coal shipped down the lakes was of greatly inferior quality. This regulation of the quality of the coal was the main reason for the bill.

The bill was also opposed on the ground that it was impracticable for the dealers to issue a statement with each sale of coal or coke giving the British thermal units and ash content in the coal or coke. It was stated that it would be impossible to comply with the proposed law and to even attempt it would mean such a financial burden that the consumer would be compelled to pay that the purpose would be defeated.

By United Press Leased Wire New York.—Mrs. James A. Stillman has flatly refused the offer of her husband to withdraw his divorce suit on certain conditions. It was learned from an authoritative source Tuesday.

Mrs. Stillman said she could see no reason for compromising. Stillman's offer to compromise was presented last Friday, it was stated, the day that hearings in the case were ordered postponed.

The United Press was informed that Stillman offered to: Withdraw his suit, and the charges against Mrs. Stillman.

In return he demanded that she must never return to, or again reside in the United States or Canada; also that she relinquish any claim of the child Guy to his share in the trust fund belonging to the Stillman children.

Iron Burns Eye

George Rechner, employed at Rusch Hardware Co.'s store, had one of his eyes painfully burned Wednesday by coming in contact with a hot soldering iron in the hands of one of the other employees. The iron came in contact with the eyeball but did not touch the pupil and his sight will not be affected. His eyelids and a portion of the side of his face were temporarily disfigured.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store, Union Pharmacy have been appointed agents for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

MAY FETE TO BE MOST ELABORATE EVER STAGED HERE

College People Complete Preparations for Beautiful Program.

The most elaborate May day program ever presented at Lawrence college will be staged Friday on the campus. The program has been arranged to cover practically the entire day. The arrangements of the big event have been made by the Tau Tau Kappa fraternity. It is hoped by the committees that the success of the venture will warrant its establishment as a permanent tradition. More than the usual number of out of town guests are expected and additional pleasures are being planned for them. If the weather should be unfavorable the celebration will be postponed until Friday May 27 and classes will convene May 30.

The program is to be presented by the physical education department under the direction of Miss Anita Gochnauer in honor of Miss Florence Clark, queen of the May. The committee in charge of the preparations consists of Margaret Luce, chairman; James Deming, program and grounds; John Vincent, music; Mathilde Harman, fete program; Gwendolyn Jacobs and Winifred Harvey, publicity; Allan Rice, business manager; Leila Bernbruch, finance; Edwin Johnson, minstrels.

The first feature is a parade of floats given by all of the organizations of the college which will occur at 10 o'clock. The line of march will be from College-ave. to Walnut-st.; east on Lawrence to Oneida; east on Pacific to Rankin, returning on College-ave.

An organized hunt will take place immediately after the parade in search of President Plant's skull cap. A prize will be awarded to the one finding the cap.

The crowning of the May Queen will take place at 3 o'clock on the campus after the picnic dinner, which will be followed by the singing of Alma Mater. "The Pied Piper" will be played by Muriel Miller as the Pied Piper; Marjorie Ingraham as the Mayor and Helen Dittner, Dorothy Cavellier and Esther Struck as the corporation. Three dances will be given in connection with the sketch. "The Pied Piper dance," "Pop Goes the Weasel" and "Circle Dance." German dances, "Cschogan" and "Rheinlander" will be danced in the Interlude between scenes by sopranos.

The next scene is "The Legend of Teulah" in which the Great Spirit is angry and sends a drought upon the Fox River Valley. The characters in the scenes are Big Chief, Mildred Packard; Princess Teulah, Marie Maxon. Two dances, the "Indian dance" and the "Rain dance" will be presented here. Two English dances, "The Morris dance" and the "Portland Fancy" will be featured before the next scene, which is in Norway. The dances accompanying this scene are "Reaping the Flax," "Mountain March," "Ring dance," and "Clap dance."

An aesthetic dance, the "Scarf dance" will be presented between the scene in Norway and the winding of the May pole, which will be the concluding dance. The dancers and actors will accompany the May queen and her attendants, Florence Mallory and Dorothy Watson in the recessional. Music for the dances will be furnished by an orchestra composed of Vilas Gehin and Henrietta Ralph at the piano; Meredith Niehaus and Lloyd Goan, saxophones; Lucy Westgate, flute and Mabel Wilbur, violin. A pageant, "The Spirit of America," written and presented by the Sunset Players and Gray Dominoes will be given at 4:30 on the Smith house river terrace.

The pageant committee consists of Florence Schneider, Alice Heideman, Gertrude Kaiser, Roberta Westenberg, Peggy McCourt, Edna Bohn, Helen Braden, James Hear, Edwin Poole. Supper will be served at 5:30 on the campus by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. An old fashioned "sing" will take place at 7:15 in the old chapel. Class stunts will follow the minstrel show. Prizes will be awarded for the best stunts.

BIG CROWD WATCHES WATER DEMONSTRATION

An audience that filled the gallery of the swimming pool at the Y. M. C. A. witnessed the swimming exhibition Wednesday evening. Demonstrations of the methods of life saving were given by Power and Gebhardt. The methods of breaking holds were shown out of water and then were executed in the pool.

The emergency canoe stunt was put on by the Colvin brothers. They demonstrated how to right and climb into a capsized canoe in deep water. Swimming strokes were shown by Colvin and Biedgett.

Several fancy diving stunts were executed both from the spring board and from the tower which was erected for the purpose. Several young men demonstrated under water swimming. Brockett swam twice the length of the pool, equivalent to 120 feet, under water.

MY FIRST JOB

THOMAS R. HAYTON Secretary, Hayton Pumpand Blower Works After leaving school I taught school in Washington for three years for a salary of about $50 a month. Later I was made county superintendent but I was required to teach part of the time. I took up teaching so I could advance in scientific lines of study. I went as far as I could in the university and up to the present day I am still making a scientific study. That is one reason why I am engaged here. Each job that we turn out is a new scientific venture for me. No two are the same.

AN OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER

William Jennings Bryan has been agitating again for one of his pet remedies—a government newspaper or bulletin to report under bipartisan editorship the views of both sides in political controversies, holding that the public cannot get accurate and unprejudiced news through privately owned newspapers. He is for the public and he believes in giving the public the facts.

Every newspaper worthy of the name believes in the same thing. But one of the facts the public ought to have pretty well learned by this time is the fact that a government newspaper or bulletin is no more likely to be infallible than a private one is. During the war we had a government bulletin under the editorship of Mr. Creel. Its business was to keep the public informed of facts, but congress rather unwillingly came to the conclusion that it wasn't always what it purported to be. It showed an unmistakable tendency to inform the public of things that hadn't happened.

Our Congressional Record is a government publication that gives, or purports to give, both sides of political controversies—the most important political controversies we have. Yet creditable reports from Washington tell us how faithful stenographers are sometimes requested to lift their pens while speeches never uttered on the floor are being read into the record. We imagine that Mr. Bryan's proposed publication would be something like the Congressional Record, for it is a good record—as good as our government can get out. There is just one thing the matter with it. Nobody reads it.

It is hard to see why government editors would be any less susceptible to political opinions and personal viewpoints than private editors are, unless, of course, they were appointed, as many of our public officials seem to be, because of a conspicuous lack of originality and ideas. Any human editor would be subject to an occasional thought that was entirely his own, and none but a human editor would be capable of making political controversies readable. Judging from the government's success in humanizing its existing institutions we don't imagine a government newspaper would be a very efficient remedy for the nation's ills.

THE REAL HUGHES

If it is true that a public official's ability to face a battery of reporters is the surest indication of his human quality the American people have every reason to congratulate themselves on the humaneness of the present administration. President Harding is a newspaper man himself and his kindness toward those of his profession was well known even before he became president, but few of us suspected that Secretary Hughes would test out as well.

Reporters covering the state department at Washington, however, give us a picture of Mr. Hughes that contradicts our long established notion of what so great a lawyer is like. We have always pictured Mr. Hughes as a tall, austere, incisive man with sleek black hair, a marble brow, piercing gray eyes, stiff, well-trained whiskers and the general air of one who has a national reputation to maintain and will run no risks in maintaining it. The fact is, he is not much taller than the average man, he has bald spots and "commonplace tufts of gray," his "luxuriantly militant black whiskers" are a mere "whitish tangle" around his chin and he "occasionally appears in a sack suit that could be pressed without a waste of time or money."

A newspaper man who gives us this picture, says that our secretary of state is showing himself to be a regular guy as well as our greatest lawyer. He goes right to the point in giving out news and shoots the big idea first, which is the proper thing to do, as all reporters know. Then he stands in the middle and answers questions. He resorts to none of the common attempts at evasion that characterize a public official who trembles before the public's judgment. He says "Yes" or "No" or "I can't say." If he feels that he can answer unofficially and not for publication he has the grace to do so.

OLD HOME-BREW DAYS

William Harrison was chaplain to an English nobleman in the sixteenth century. As a husband he made a point of knowing all that went on in his own household and, it seems, liked to putter around the kitchen, especially when his wife was making his home-brew.

He also was a writing man and liked to put to paper all the observations he made, so that his Chronicles are regarded as the most accurate description extant of family life in the sixteenth century.

And in the course of these Chronicles—now a classic, by the way—he sort of takes his readers aside—as some men like to do today—and whispers to them the secret of his suppurative home-brew.

"Since I have taken occasion to speak of brewing," he writes, "I will exemplify in such a proportion as I am best skilled in, because it is the usual rate for mine own family, and once in a month practiced by my wife and her maid-servants."

And after giving the recipe in full, he, like any modern, brags of the kick it conveys, at the same time warning his readers of the dangers of drinking unwisely.

Describing the evil effects of drinking one's self full of his recipe, he says:

"I know some ale knights so much addicted thereto that they either fall quite under the board, or else, not daring to stir from their stools, sit still, pinking with their narrow eyes."

Had he lived some 400 years later, he probably would have put it less elegantly, but as effectively, thus: "Oh boy, it's got some kick, believe me!"

The male of the species hasn't changed a bit in 400 years.

THE MOSE SCHOOL

As the story goes, a colored resident of Kentucky had been sentenced to be hanged. At first he was not greatly interested but as the day named for his execution drew near he became rather disturbed. He even went so far as to mention the matter to his jailer, who suggested that he write to the governor and offered to do the clerical part. Mose took five minutes to consider and composed a letter as follows:

Dear Marse Gurnah: They is fixing to hang me Friday, and here it am Tuesday, Mose Johnson.

Offhand, we should say that few governors have ever received an appeal for executive clemency which would be likely to go farther than this one. The governor certainly would read it through if he began it, and it is to be feared that is not true of all petitions received by governors and other people. This letter stated the situation, was accurate in its dates and it put the case squarely up to the governor. All of us read so many tedious letters, reiterating and explaining at wearisome length, that we feel we should be disposed to do much for a man who could state his case so concisely as Mose.

The modern devices of typewriters, dictaphones, stenographers and other inventions for making letter writing easy do not seem to have helped matters very much. Perhaps they have made it too easy. In any event the ability to write a good letter, to say what needs to be said, concisely, courteously, tactfully and lucidly and then to stop is much to be coveted. We need more of the Mose Johnson school of expression.

News for you, Welders of Sword or of Pen;
News that is vital and cosmic and great,
News of concern to the church and the state!
Just a brief item, but in it we find
Wonder and beauty and drama combined;
Monarchs and Presidents kindly make way,
Sallie and Jimmie were married today!

All of the battles and loves of the past,
All of the toil and the laborings vast,
Had but this purpose—that lovers might wed,
Bringing forth children to love in their stead;
Dreams that were visioned and deeds that were done
Culminate now in these two who are one,
Here they come now in their bridal array—
Sallie and Jimmie were married today!

History's only a tale that is told,
Made up of yesterdays dusty and old.
What is the past to this glorified pair?
Little of yesterday's story they care!
They have today—and they will have tomorrow;
Theirs is the future, its joy and its sorrow,
Heads 'mid the stars while they tread the clay,

A FILLING IN TIME

The baby teeth must be kept sound if good, regular, sound, permanent teeth are desired. It is cruelty to permit a young child's teeth to decay or to neglect baby teeth that decay, merely because the teeth are only temporary.

The first molar tooth of the permanent set appears at about the age of seven years. If there are already decayed teeth in the child's mouth, this first permanent tooth is very likely to become decayed; in fact, it is frequently found with a cavity at the very first examination after it is erupted. Parents generally fail to understand that this first molar or seven-year-molar is a permanent tooth, and therefore they fail to take the child to the dentist to have the cavity properly treated. The cavity just to have the tooth damaged beyond repair. Then arises a serious problem to remain, with choice of allowing the decayed tooth to remain, and the tonsils and adenoid body and to the child's general health, or extraction with its menace to the development of the future permanent set and the development of the jaw. My own preference would be for extraction in such a quandry, though I should certainly defer to the judgment of the dentist in such a matter.

It is no idle speculation that a decayed molar tooth favors disease of the tonsils and adenoid body. The last molar tooth in a child's or adult's mouth is practically in contact with the tonsils when the mouth is closed. It is therefore a convenient place for bacteria to be directly implanted upon the surface of the tonsil from a cavity in the back molar tooth. Some throat specialists view this relation from the tonsils to the back molar teeth. I am not a throat specialist and do not see it that way. It is a familiar observation that children whose teeth are kept sound rarely if ever have diseased tonsils and adenoids. Aside from the feeding of children with wholesome, plain, unadorned food instead of the molly-coddled stuff that spoils so many youngsters, there is probably no other one precaution fraught with such far-reaching benefit to a child's health as the careful preservation of the baby teeth.

I am making no appeal for tooth brushes nor urging dentifrices. If we gave children undenatured food they would have little need for tooth brushes and other impediments of the oral toilet. A brushing occasionally may be all right. No harm, provided the brush is clean. What I am pleading for is early, regular, frequent visits to a competent dentist.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Water With Meals

I am a boy thirteen years old and drink about four glasses of water with each meal. My aunt thinks it floods my stomach. Does drinking that much do me any harm? (H. S.)

ANSWER—It may do harm, Howard. A glass or two of cold water with meals may be all right. Why the sudden thirst at meal time? It certainly does harm if you use the water to wash down food.

Blue Eyes Change to Brown?

If a child is born with blue eyes is it possible for the eyes ever to turn brown, or vice versa? (D. A. E.)

ANSWER—All eyes are brown. Brown is the color of the pigment of the iris. If there is much pigment, the eyes are dark brown ("black"). If none, albinos. If very little, "blue"; if more, gray; if still more, brown. The eyes often grow darker than they were in infancy. They never grow lighter.

Cataract Need Not Ripen

How long does it take for what is called an "inside" cataract to ripen? Have you known in your extensive experience of any instance of a cataract passing off the eye of its own accord, or rather drying up? (C. R. W.)

ANSWER—Cataracts take months or years to ripen, but it is no longer necessary to wait for ripeness, but haven't any particular experience with cataract, other than the casual experience of any doctor, and I have never known of an authentic instance of cataract clearing up spontaneously.

to establish a nation wide system of physical culture, and the figures showing the need for such a measure have been truly alarming. They show that a large percentage of American men are physically unfit, and that among sedentary workers, lack of exercise and of fresh air are the big causes. We have conquered germs, only to let our livers and hearts and other vital organs degenerate for lack of an occasional shaking up.

The congressman and senator are the sedentary men par excellence. Sitting is their business. A congressman's reputation depends partly on how much time he spends sitting in the House, and when he leaves there he goes to his office and sits down and spends four hours dictating letters, explaining that the garden seeds are all gone and why he could not recommend 15 men for one postmaster.

Formerly oratory gave the legislator all the exercise he needed. Men like Daniel Webster and Henry Clay used to get up a good sweat every time they addressed the house. Then they would take a plunge in the Potomac and a rub down, and so keep in the best of trim.

But the style in oratory has changed. There is not as much swinging and waving as there used to be. Oratory no longer takes the place of the setting up exercise. And members of the house, especially, do not get a chance to talk often enough to keep them in really good trim. The Congressman says a few words and then extends his remarks in the Record. The orations that the home folk read are delivered only to stenographers or even written with a lead pencil.

Hence the need for the congressional gymnasium which has recently been opened on the first floor of the House Office Building in a space formerly occupied by the Democratic National Committee.

A Fighting Congressman
The idea is credited to Representatives Britton of Illinois, and Reed of New York. After the balance of the 140 congressional athletes had signified their willingness to take part in the plan, each was assessed $10. With this money Representative Britton managed to obtain complete equipment for the gymnasium.

For the legislator who seeks diversion or exercise, there is provided a handball court, three rowing machines, two punching bags, a wrestling mat, horizontal bars, abdominal massage machines, a gymnasium "locker," and any number of medicine balls, boxing gloves, chest weight pulleys, Indian clubs, dumb bells, fencing foils, masks, and breast plates. In addition, there are lockers, shower baths, a steam room, rubbing tables, and an electric cabinet bath.

The "gym" idea was conceived during the last session of Congress, and the money for the equipment collected. Every day there is spasmodic use of the gymnasium, but it is planned now to have regular classes to whip congressmen into good trim. The two originators of the plan with Representative Newton, of Minnesota, have been named as a committee to get in touch with the athletic authorities of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Georgetown University, with a view to securing the services of the best athletic coaching available. It is planned to hold this class in the morning, due to the embarrassment which might result from a roll call interrupting an afternoon class, dressing nearly naked statesmen from their violent physical exertions, forcing them to dress hurriedly, dash over to the Capitol, and answer to their names.

It is not expected that the full 140 subscribers to the fund for the equipment of the gymnasium will take advantage of the opportunity a coached class in physical culture will offer them. Some of the older members will not attend, and many of the house leaders contributed with no idea of being able to devote a definite fraction of their time to being put into good bodily trim.

Captain John Craig, of the Marine Corps, will have general supervision of the physical work of the statesmen when the class is formed. He is an overseas veteran, and now, in addition to being one of the aides to Major General LeJume, Commandant of the Marine Corps, is Athletic Officer of the Corps. He intends to detail properly qualified enlisted men of the organization if they are found to be available.

A Famous Coach
Captain Craig entered the Marine Corps during the late war. His prowess as an amateur boxer is well known. In addition to attaining laurels in this field, he assisted in training of three middleweight champions of the world.

Boxing bids fair to take a prominent part in the activities of the house gymnasium devotees. One of the originators of the gymnasium plan, Representative Britton, has an enviable record as an amateur boxer, broad jumper, and sprinter. He still keeps himself in first class shape all the time, doing a considerable amount of handball playing and boxing.

Mr. Britton and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, new Assistant Secretary of the Navy, have agreed to a friendly bout with the gloves at the House gym. Colonel Roosevelt, by the way, is the only man outside the membership of the House who has been admitted to membership in the gymnasium. Only the fixing of a time convenient to Secretary Roosevelt remains in the way of these men coming together.

Secretary Roosevelt has led the "strenuous life" advocated by his distinguished father, and has engaged in a great many glove encounters with the late ex-President. However, in tackling Representative Britton, he will have his hands uncomfortably full, although he will have the advantage of weight, height, and reach.

The congressman made a great name for himself on the Pacific Coast as a youngster. He is still remembered there as one of the fastest and strongest lightweight amateur boxers that California has produced. He came into national notice when fighting a gentleman who rejoiced in the name of Young Brady at the Olympic Club of San Francisco in 1912. In the first round he knocked Brady down six times, then knocked him out, all in the space of one minute, and thirty seconds.

At the Chicago Athletic club, during the World's Fair games in 1933, young Britton knocked out Jack Maokler in 12 rounds. During the Chicago games, Mr. Britton did not devote himself entirely to boxing, but by way of variety defeated Crumm, the then famous Iowa sprinter, who subsequently was timed for 100 yards in less than 10 seconds. Mr. Britton also treasures medals won for swimming and broad jumping.

Mr. Britton received his instruction in boxing from James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world. If, in the coming encounter between Mr. Britton and the doughy Secretary Roosevelt, one inadvertently hits the other a little harder than he meant to, it is more than likely that the fur will fly.

Straws like these never broke a camel's back

—They are as light as a maiden's laughter.

Light in weight—in spirit and in cost.

Light in everything except tonnage of quality and toniness of style, and on these points the force of this Straw showing will be felt by every man who has a vanity to tickle and a value sense to satisfy.

Prices begin at $3, stop at $10, and between these two figures, which mean nothing at all until you see the hats, there is everything you have figured on wearing this Summer.

We like to show them—you'll like to see them.

HUMPTY-DUMPTIES WANT MORE MONEY

Special to Post-Crescent
New York.—The Humpty-Dumties are banded together in a union and are defying the king's men to make them work for less than $35 a week. Unless they receive that as a minimum the Egg Inspectors' Union will strike.

It is Charles Blatman, who heads and advises 500 of the egg candlers, who make the threat.

A Humpty-Dumpty—the nick name applied by one egg inspector to another—is a man who works half his life in a dark room—usually a cellar—looking for the good among the bad eggs.

His is a craft which, according to Blatman, dates back to the Crusades, and all its secrets are hidden except to those favored by being permitted to serve two years as an apprentice.

All day long the Humpty-Dumpty sings but one tune. It runs like this: "Rots and spots, rots and spots, oh, the rots and spots!"

A spot on an egg makes it bad, while a rot makes it odoriferous.

The Royal Order of Egg Inspectors have a fraternal pin upon which is embossed in gold, the figure of a strutting hen, and underneath the words, "The Mother of Our Industry."

All egg inspectors, according to Blatman, are cheerful despite their continual confinement in the gloom—because of the damp places in which they must work most of them have rheumatism.

Some egg inspectors are so adept that by merely clinking four or five hen fruit together they can tell almost to the day how old an egg is.

THE BOOK OF MARTHA

A cheap bag lined with magenta silk, slazy lace of a hideous design; and heavy gloves twice too large for Ann's wee hands; such was the trove Ann Lorimer, daughter-in-law of a munitions millionaire had snatched from the counters of a department store!

"Why did she do it?" I whispered to Martha.

"I can't imagine! Not one of these things would she ever put on!"

"Can it be possible that Ann is a kleptomaniac?" I moaned.

"I hope not!" said Martha. "You go up to her cell at once, Jane. Perhaps the poor child needs you."

"Needs me!" I snorted—there is no other word to describe my indignant tone. "What Ann needs is an old-fashioned chastisement!"

I left Martha to adjust the legal difficulties with the officers at the desk. In spite of my indignation, in spite of my desire to inflict corporal punishment on the wilful child-wife of my brother-in-law, I was close to tears when I followed the guard through "the cage," up the narrow flight of steel steps of the woman's prison, and along a narrow gray corridor lined on one side by a row of steel rods, the front of the cells.

I had never been in prison before. Never had I been in an asylum, or any institution where human beings are barred from the outside world.

The strange odor of the place oppressed me. I thought, I must be walking in my sleep. How could it be possible that I, Jane Lorimer, was going to visit my sister-in-law, locked up in a cell?

"They simply wouldn't believe me when I gave them my name and address," was Ann's excited greeting.

"Why should they?" I said in a tone which I intended to make very hard and bitter. "The Lorimer women are not accustomed to get themselves into—"

I stopped suddenly. Why hurt the poor girl's feelings?

The guard walked away to the end of the corridor. At last I had my chance to put the big questions:

"Ann, how did this happen? How did you get in here? Did you actually steal that awful bag and lace?"

"Sure I did!" was the conscienceless girl's quick reply. "Cheap stuff! That's just where I made my big mistake, Jane. If I'd only snatched things I could use myself, the store detectives would have listened to me," Ann answered with a grimace.

ARREST FOUR MEN FOR ROBBING BIG NEW LONDON STORE

Vague Clue Leads to Apprehension of Alleged Burglars.
Eastern Star Dinner.

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London. — The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church will hold a sale on Saturday, May 21, in the store building on South Pearl st., recently vacated by Oestreich Brothers.

Andrew Rumenoff has added to the appearance and convenience of his home on the corner of Wyman and Washington st., by the addition of a large porch on the rear of the house. E. E. Brain, who is employed by the Thorsen Lumber Co. of Appleton, spent the week-end with his family in this city.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Relief corps, the movie "Dinty" was shown at the grand theatre Monday and Tuesday evenings. There was a good crowd in attendance at each presentation of the film.

A report was published in this column several days ago, relating to injuries received by Fred W. Arndt recently of New London, in a severe storm at Tigerton. It has since been learned that the report was in error, as Mr. Arndt was not injured in the least.

The Herman Becker residence on Dickinson-st. is rapidly approaching completion. Edgar Polley is doing the brick work on the chimneys and the fireplace.

A committee of members of the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star served a 6.30 dinner to 70 men and women, including local members and guests, on Monday evening, May 17. Twenty-one guests from Manawa, seven from Royalton, and several from Shiocton attended the dinner and the initiatory work which followed it.

W. E. Polley has been awarded the contract to erect a building for the graded school at Sheridan. This school building will be constructed similar in style to one that Mr. Polley built three years ago at Galesburg.

The vigilance and quick perception of W. B. Viel resulted in the apprehension and arrest on Tuesday afternoon of four young men, all residents of this city, who burglarized the Crispy store recently. Mr. Viel, who is in charge of the men's clothing and furnishing department, discovered the guilty persons by happening to observe a suit left for alteration at a local tailor shop. In company with Chief of Police Andrew Lucke, he followed up the clue, leading to the arrest and complete recovery of the stolen goods. Several suits of clothing, and a large number of silk shirts, six dozen pairs of silk hose and several traveling bags comprised the loot.

PIERCE'S PARK PURCHASE COMES TO LIFE AGAIN

Committee of Aldermen Is Appointed to Investigate Playground Site.

The matter of purchasing Pierce's park while the city still has opportunity was brought up at the meeting of the common council in the city hall Wednesday evening and a committee consisting of Aldermen Smith, Wood and Fose was appointed by Mayor Hawes to see what it can be purchased for either before or after the pavement on Second-st. is put down. The pavement will cost the property over $8,000.

Alderman Laabs was the leader of the movement and said he understood that the cost of the new pavement would make it necessary for the owners to dispose of the property and he thought the city was making a mistake in not gaining possession of it before it was too late.

"The park is not a whole in the ground," said the alderman, "but a valuable asset that could always be converted into money any time the city saw fit if it did not want to use it for a park."

Mr. Laabs said it was not needed now and probably would not be needed for 25 years, but as it is the only available property in the city that can be used as a park he urged the council to purchase it and by issuing long term bonds let future generations pay for it. "The bonds could be paid off at the rate of $1,500 a year without city feeling it to any great extent," he said.

Would Defer Action
Alderman Wood did not believe that immediate action was necessary and was of the opinion that the property could be purchased later to on better advantage. Alderman Lapsen favored gaining possession of the entire river front up to Alicia park which would take care of the proposed River-rd. the opening of which is under consideration.

While all the aldermen did not express themselves on the subject practically all of them voted in favor of a motion by Alderman Smith that the mayor appoint a committee of three to investigate the matter.

College To Celebrate Its Diamond Jubilee

Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Founding of Lawrence Occurs in February.

February 15, 1922 will be the seventy-fifth anniversary of the granting of the charter by the state legislature to Lawrence college, according to Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of the college. The matter of a suitable celebration will be discussed at the annual meeting of the trustees of Lawrence college June 13. A big celebration was staged in commemoration

July 4, 1849. The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the school was celebrated on the date the charter was secured so it is probable the same date will be set aside for the festivities of the seventy-fifth year.

The Messers Lawe and Meade agreed to donate 31 acres of land apiece provided the institution should be located upon it. This offer was accepted.

When the first building was erected there were few white men near here. The building cost $7,000. It served for recitations, chapel, laboratory, din-of the fiftieth anniversary of the institution and it is expected that a greater celebration will be held in honor of the seventy-fifth anniversary.

Amos Lawrence, an eastern man, made an offer of $10,000 for founding the college provided the Rock River conference of the Methodist church would raise a similar amount, according to Dr. Plantz. The proposition was accepted and a committee was appointed to obtain charter from the legislature. School opened in 1849. Work was started on the first building right after the charter was secured. Dedication services were held

ing room, kitchen and dormitory for students and faculty, and was situated about where the Fair store now stands.

The doors of the institution were flung open to the aspiring youth of Wisconsin on Nov. 12, 1849. Five were enrolled on the first day but by December the number had increased to 60.

In 1853 a college department was completed and the present Main hall was erected. Since then the institution has grown until it now embraces a vast number of courses. There are 16 buildings on the campus and the college owns considerable property.

COUNTY WORKHOUSE IS 25 YEARS OLD

Institution Has Paid for Itself Many Times in Quarter Century.

Outagamie county workhouse has been in existence for nearly quarter of a century. Twenty-five years ago at this time the county clerk was advertising for bids for its construction. The county board decided to build the structure after a stormy session and much opposition. The late Peter Tubbs of Seymour was one of the leaders of the movement.

The workhouse was erected at a time when the tramp nuisance was at its zenith, over 100 tramps frequently being lodged in the jail at one time. The workhouse in Green Bay had just been completed and was visited by a committee from the local board of supervisors who recommended the erection of the new institution. It was estimated at the time that the workhouse saved the county $15,000 the first year.

The first superintendent was Julius Kuehn of Kaukauna, who served two terms. He has been succeeded by John Stark, John Pose, Matt Brill, Otto Stammer and John Wagner. Mr. Wagner has held the position for nearly six years, a much longer term than any of his predecessors.

A year ago there was talk among members of the county board of discontinuing the workhouse, but there was such a protest on the part of officers, judges and taxpayers generally that the matter was dropped. It is the only protection the county has against a nuisance that under present conditions is liable to break out afresh at any time.

Complete Description of All Sale Animals to Be Given Prospective Buyers.

Catalogs for the first annual consignment sale of the Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association are off the press and ready for distribution. Five hundred copies have been received by Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, who is supplying them to farmers, or they may also be obtained from Fred A. Ziegler, Appleton, chairman of the sales committee.

The catalog contains 75 pages, giving the complete record of every animal offered, including production of the animal itself or of the dam or sire from which it descended. Several photographs of especially good cows are reproduced. Full descriptions of seven sires not offered for sale but referred to in the case of bred heifers also are included in the book.

All animals consigned for sale are guaranteed by the association to be satisfactory in regard to production, type and health. Those over six months old have passed the tuberculin test within 90 days of the date of sale, which is Friday, May 27. Purchasers are allowed to conduct a retest under specified conditions and are guaranteed the refund of their money if any of the animals react. In this way confidence is established in the minds of all buyers.

Members of the sales committee are Fred Ziegler, Paul O. Nyhus, Lloyd Tubbs and John Taage. Walter Wiekert is president of the association and Edward O. Mueller, secretary-treasurer. J. E. Mack of Fort Atkinson, known in dairying circles all through the middle west, is to be auctioneer. Reid P. Murray, Oshkosh, will read pedigrees.

RED CROSS ENROLLS MEN UNDER NEW BONUS PLAN

Efforts are being made by the Outagamie Red Cross chapter to enrol men as early as possible for the educational bonus provided by a new state law.

Under the previous arrangement men who had received the state cash bonus were required to refund that amount before receiving the educational bonus. The new law entitles applicants to $1 a day from the date of application for such educational training. The cash bonus is charged against them and deducted instead of being refunded.

The net result to the state is the same, but it obviates the necessity of the applicant raising the money to make the refund. The amount may be repaid the state in instalments at stipulated times. Privileges start from the day of application.

4 ATTEND STATE HOLSTEIN SALE

Among the Outagamie county men who attended the state sale of the Wisconsin Holstein-Friesian Breeders association in Milwaukee were Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, W. H. Steffensen and R. J. Schaefer, Appleton, and Alvin Tiedt, Black Creek.

L. A. Wiese of Larsen, Winnebago county, consigned the cow with the best yearly record of any at the sale, receiving $1,200 for the animal. The cow was an 8-year old with a yearly production record of 1,113 pounds of butter. A 2-year old heifer consigned by Mr. Steffensen brought $325.

The highest bid was that of $1,300 for a 5-year old sire, a son of the famous Sir Peterje Ormsby Mercedes 37. Prices for the entire consignment averaged slightly more than $500 a head, which was considered quite high considering conditions in the dairy market.

COUNCIL PUTS ITS O. K. ON MOVEMENT TO CLEAN UP CITY

Week of May 24 Is Set Aside for Clean-up—New Plans for Alley.

Tuesday, May 24, to Saturday, May 28, inclusive, was designated as clean-up week at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening. During that period the city will haul away free of charge all rubbish, tin cans, garbage, etc., if placed on the curb in boxes and barrels.

While officials favor a clean city there was a diversity of opinion about a clean-up period because it had been abused previous years. Some favored charging up the hauling of the rubbish against the property to prevent abuse, but it was voted down 8 to 3.

It was brought out that many property owners do not wait for the city to designate a clean-up period but go ahead and clean up their premises as soon as the weather permits. This action was commended by the city authorities.

New Alley Plans

The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans for an 18-foot alley in block 28, known as Sherman house alley, according to tentative plans which he submitted for approval. The proposed alley runs west from Morrison-st. in a straight line until it reaches the Sherman house and then veers to the south several feet. The original plan was to run a straight alley through the block, but it was found the expense to the city would be $40,000 and it was given up.

Steps were taken for securing the property at the corner of Morrison and Johnson-sts. as a public parking place, the owner offering the use of the property free of charge providing the city would remove the building located thereon.

Members of the chamber of commerce appeared before the council in behalf of the Konz Box and Lumber Co. which is desirous of purchasing two acres of land of the farm now connected with the city home in which "T" is of great need for yard room. The matter was referred to the street committee inasmuch as Lawrence-st. intersects a portion of the land desired.

Four bids for painting the buildings connected with the municipal swimming pool were opened and were referred to the committee on grounds and buildings with power to act.

Plans and specifications for a concrete curb and a Sherman place were adopted and the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids.

Leads to Building

Alfred L. Lash announced that he intended to erect an office building on the middle lot between Godfrin and Zickler buildings on the south side of College-ave. if the city did not care to purchase it for the price he paid for it. Some time ago the city had the property under consideration as the site for a service station.

A communication from William Christianson concerning an injury to his foot received some time ago was referred to the city attorney.

A proposed ordinance affecting the board of equalization which was made necessary by the change from a board of assessors to only one assessor was referred to the ordinance committee.

The report of the committee on fire and water recommending the installation of several new water mains was adopted. The recommendations of the committee on streets and bridges for additional new sewers on outlying streets were also acted upon favorably.

The city engineer was instructed to purchase a Ford runabout for street use. A quit claim deed from the Pierce Land Co. to the city, which concerned a tract of land in the Third ward, was received and placed on file.

A petition for the closing of the cindered portion of Rankin-st. and a petition for the extension of Fremont-st. were referred to the committee on streets and bridges.

The board of public works reported the final determinations of the findings of the streets to be paved which were placed on file.

CROP OUTLOOK IN COUNTY BEST IN NUMBER OF YEARS

Mild Winter and Abundant Rains Give Promise of Big Yield Next Summer.

Crop prospects in Outagamie county are the most promising in years, according to estimates prepared by Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. The mild winter and abundant spring rain had a stimulating effect. The rice crop is almost 100 per cent perfect, with wheat and hay well up to the normal.

This county is ahead of Brown and Winnebago counties in its crop prospects. Nine per cent of the acreage of winter wheat has been abandoned here for various causes, but the crop promises to be at least 95 per cent of normal, as compared to the 5-year average of 90 per cent. Brown county has abandoned 5 per cent of wheat, but its crop outlook is only 55 per cent of normal. Winnebago dropped 5 per cent of its acreage and has promise of a crop as low as 52 per cent of maximum yield.

Rice crops in Outagamie county will be 99 per cent of normal and 5 per cent above the average of the last five years. Brown county will have 91 per cent and Winnebago 84 per cent of the average yield. This county's hay crop is estimated at 93 per cent of normal; Brown county, 88 per cent; Winnebago, 87 per cent. Outagamie's crop will be 5 per cent better than the 5-year average.

Spring planting in this county is well ahead of other years, with 65 per cent of the work completed, compared to the 5-year average of 56 per cent. Brown has 67 and Winnebago 56 per cent of its spring work out of the way.

Winter grains for all parts of Wisconsin increased 3 per cent in condition since April 1. Mr. Becker's reports show. Heavy rains in April overcame a previous deficiency of soil moisture and greatly stimulated these crops. Mr. Becker gives the data quoted below as a survey of crop conditions.

Little Wheat Abandoned

In spite of the open winter, only an average acreage of winter wheat was abandoned, or 10 per cent compared to 4 per cent last year and a 10-year average of 10.3 per cent. Area remaining for harvest is estimated at 77,000 acres, compared to 91,000 harvested in 1920 and a 5-year (1915-19) average of 81,000 acres. Forecasted production is 1,600,000 bushels, compared to 2,002,000 produced in 1920 and a 5-year average of 1,754,000 bushels. Condition on May 1 was 85 per cent of normal, compared to 83 per cent on April 1, 90 per cent on May 1, 1920 and a 10-year average of 90 per cent.

"Abandonment of rice acreage is estimated at 1 per cent and the acreage remaining for harvest at 430,000

TO VOTE ON CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

Referendum of National Chamber of Commerce to Be Submitted Here.

Appleton members of the chamber of commerce will have opportunity to indicate their stand on a movement started by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to recast the federal civil service completely. Sentiment will be gained through a referendum to each member containing nine propositions which are to be voted upon.

It is the aim of the national chamber to insist upon more businesslike methods and less politics in handling more than half a million government employees. Adequate and uniform pay under the conditions is urged, to be accomplished through reclassification and regrading. Promotions as a means of filling vacancies, upon a basis of proved merit, will be urged.

One of the most serious handicaps to both economy and efficiency is the practical exclusion from the permanent civil service of a very large part of the administrative offices of real distinction, the chamber argues, referring to such posts as that of postmaster. These belong chiefly with the operating force of the government, it is said, and the waste incident to frequent change through political favor should be eliminated. It is said, and the waste under like conditions is urged, to be by allowing promotions from the ranks, based on civil service.

Other angles of this problem will be aired through the referendum vote by which business men belonging to 1,400 commercial organizations will give their views. Each ballot is accompanied by a complete review of the situation as found through study by committee on budget and efficiency of the national chamber.

acres, compared to 453,000 harvested in 1920 and a 5-year average of 433,000 acres. Condition on May 1 was 91 per cent, compared to 88 per cent a month ago, 92 per cent a year ago and a 10-year average of 92 per cent. Production forecasted is 7,513,000 bushels, compared to 7,728,000 produced in 1920 and a 5-year average of 7,544,000.

Plenty of Hay Foreseen

"A hay crop of 5,038,000 tons in Wisconsin is forecasted for 1921. This compares with 5,273,000 tons produced in 1920 and a 5-year average (1915-19) of 4,554,000 tons. Tame hay production is estimated at 4,565,000 tons, compared to 4,814,000 in 1920 and a 5-year average of 4,298,000, with hay at 471,000 tons, compared to 459,000 in 1920 and a 5-year average of 473,000 tons."

upon at any hour scheduled for the opening. This country did not associate three hundred years with the manana-loving Spaniard for nothing. If the house is to meet at 10 A. M., it will be 10:15 when that remarkable man, Speaker Osmena, clad in a suit of white silk perfectly tailored in the latest American fashion, steps upon the platform and sits down behind his desk. The members are grouped around the chamber, going full tilt in a free conversation, and they belong to a race by no means tongue-tied. The quietly watchful speaker, his face always a flawless mask for his thought, picks up his gavel and strikes with it two light raps on the side rail of his desk, and instantly the house falls into order. The clerk begins to read the journal of the previous day, and the session is off.

The first thing the American visitor notices as strange is that the members seem to be interested in the proceedings. There isn't a doubt of it, they actually do. Of course, if they were really au fait with civilization and that sort of thing they would sit with their back to the speaker and tell funny stories while the proceedings go on. Next I am obliged to admit to you (for I desire to keep back no truth, however poignant) that they do not seem to have that mad, consuming passion for verbiage. And marks your real legislator. And again, the poor benighted things have never learned to print in the record speeches undelivered on the floor. It is to Time, I suppose, that we must look for the cure of these defects.

Throughout the performance the cool imperturbable speaker remains seated. His gavel is about the size of a tooth brush; I missed at once the sledge hammer with which the speaker of the American house mauls the plank set into the top of his desk. Likewise, I missed the repetition of that familiar cry, strident, persistent but always fallacious, "The House will be in order." Here the tense is the present, not the vainly hoped for future; the house is always in order. There were some hot debates in the closing hours of this session, for rather radical legislation was going over, but when feeling was at its height one small tap of the speaker's gavel never failed to restrain it. Other things than manana the Spaniards planted in this country, one of them being a conception of courtesy and good manners.

Another is the Spanish language, in which the proceedings of the legislature are still conducted. But in three more years, American is to be the language of the courts and by that time it will probably be also the language of the legislature as it has been for twenty years the language of the schools. Most of the legislators understand American now, but Spanish is retained for the benefit of the old boys that went into the business of life before the Americans brought the blessings of common school education and universal baseball.

In the senate that morning Senator Pilemon Sotto of Cebu was making an address on the pending legislation, which was the important bill reforming the judicial system of the islands. Sotto is one of the senate leaders and would be anywhere a man you would look at more than once. He made his subject (in the total space of fifteen minutes) an exposition as clear and firm as crystal.

and I was impressed with the notion that no present senator of the United States in the same length of time could have made of anything on earth from carpet tacks to tariffs a statement equally concise, lucid and simple. When I remarked upon this to some Filipino friends, I found they were not impressed as I had been, but of course they had not spent dreary years in the press gallery, and that makes a difference.

When Sotto was done other senators followed. The speeches were short, pointed and as bare as a skillet of the sweet flowers of rhetoric. I was told that the Filipinos do not care for these blossoms and balmy outpourings, but much prefer substance to ornament, a fact that again indicates a primitive darkness.

The president of the Philippine senate is Manuel Quezon, the bright-eyed and quick-witted little man who so long was the resident Philippine Commissioner at Washington. He has an even easier job at the sessions than Osmena has; the grave decorum of the senate seldom gets over the severest mates and bounds laid down by Cushing and Roberts. He puts the motions; if there is any doubt, a show of hands or a roll call is had; everything according to Hoyle and all that. Being a senator himself, he sometimes calls a substitute to the chair, gets down upon the floor and speaks upon a pending motion.

Since its inauguration in October, 1916, the Philippine Legislature has passed about forty acts of first class national importance, among them acts enlarging the educational system, establishing the Philippine Militia, seeking to increase the production of foodstuffs, establishing a mint, seeking to curb profiteering.

RENEW CAMPAIGN FOR CHINA RELIEF

Millions Still Need to Be Provided With Food Until Harvest Time.

Local support of the fund for Chinese famine relief is to be continued with unabated energy in an endeavor to swell the amounts already contributed. Nearly 5,000,000 Chinese still are without food until the harvest establish a bureau of dependent children, instituting an income tax.

The opponents of Philippine independence criticize the policy of some of these acts but no one has been able to say they fail to indicate a stable fully operating government and a stable government was the only condition made by the Jones law.

time and it will take $1.80 to support each of these persons until relief comes.

George F. Werner, chairman of the local relief committee, therefore is urging all Appleton people to make contributions if they have not done so, or to give additional amounts if they can be spared.

Latest advices from the American committee for the China famine fund are that the spring crop in the Province of Chihli, covering about 20 per cent of the famine area, will be almost a total failure. This adds another possible 2,000,000 to the 5,000,000 already destitute. China herself has raised $7,500,000 and America has provided about $5,000,000. This takes care of all who face starvation except about 5,000,000.

Elsewhere in this issue is a form of pledge which may be filled out by contributors and sent to Mr. Werner, or to William Strussburger, treasurer of the fund, at the First National bank.

is a scientific food which nourishes the body without burdening the stomach. It contains the perfected nutriment of nature's best grains. It is partially pre-digested.

It gives energy without taking energy. There's a big difference in the day's work, with a helper like that. Many have found it so.

Grape-Nuts, served with cream or milk, is a joy to the taste. But that's only the beginning. It's a first aid to body and brain. That's the delightful finish.

DOG "MUSHES" 1,600 MILES TO ITS OLD HOME

By United Press Leased Wire
Winnepeg. — Last August, J. McNeil sold his holdings at Morden, Manitoba, and removed to Telkwa, British Columbia, taking along a dog that had been with the family several years.

Soon after they arrived at Telkwa, the dog disappeared. It turned up Thursday at the old home in Morden apparently none the worse for his long journey.

It had mushed the whole distance of 1,600 miles which on the outward trip had been made by train.

"QUALITY" IS OUR MARK OF DISTINCTION

MUST EXERCISE CARE IN PICKING MEN FOR CORNERS

Kilbane Says Many a Fighter Has Been Defeated by His Seconds.

BY JOHNNY KILBANE, Featherweight Champion

Kilbane

Many a fight has been lost by poor seconds. For an example you need go back no farther than the last real heavyweight championship fight—the Dempsey-Willard bout. Had the men in Willard's corner given him the proper kind of handling, Big Jess could have come back after that disastrous third round, the fight would have been prolonged and might have gone the limit.

Plain Water Best I never allow orange or lemon or sugar in my corner. These form an acid in the mouth with the result that before the next round is fairly started, my throat is dry and burning from thirst. Plain water and a sponge and spritz of ammonia are the only "revivers" my seconds can use.

A fighter should never have more than three men in his corner—and one of these should stay outside to hand up articles as needed. One man inside to hold out the drawing string on the tight to give a fighter free breathing room and to swing a towel, and another to stand at the side of a fighter's chair and talk with him about next round plans are all a man needs. The towel should be swung high so the air hits the head, where it is needed.

10 Seconds Leeway Seconds should get out of the ring ten seconds before the bell. This not only gives the audience a better chance to see the fight but it gives the fighter a chance to get set. If he has to leap out from behind a towel to meet his opponent he is in a daze and it takes several seconds to get his bearings.

The damage that poor seconds can do was shown in one of my fights with Matt Brock. In the first round I upset Brock with a left to the jaw, and he dropped. The men in his corner tossed in a towel, but it fell behind the referee, who was busy counting and didn't see it. Brock rose at the count of seven and his seconds, seeing that he was unhurt, jerked the towel back. Had the referee seen it, Brock, although in good fighting shape, would have had a knockout against him in the records.

K. O. By Champagne Another example, almost as absurd occurred on the coast where Jimmy Johnston was in the corner of one of his boys who was having his hands full with a tough opponent. When he came to his corner between rounds, exhausted, Johnston poured a bottle of champagne over top of his head. In the next round his boy was knocked out, of course.

When a knockout occurs seconds often try to give advice from the corner to the fallen boxer. "Stay down!" they yell, seeking to have their man take as much rest as possible. And the dazed fighter obeys, instead of following his own inclination to climb back on his feet. And being dazed, he often is counted out before he knows what has happened, although he really had a lot of fight left in him. Only the other night, at a show in Cleveland, a promising boxer was "knocked out" in this way, and that case is only one of many.

Dempsey and the Frenchman must pick their seconds with care—must get boys who know the game and know it well. If they don't they'll go into the ring woefully handicapped.

Insider Says

French lingo is French and American lingo is American—but fighting in either is just the same.

Those who believe a knockout is coming in the big fight are wondering—how, when and where?

Ty Cobb is a boxer in Philadelphia. Sounds like a hutter.

A lot of men "give up golf" who never give it up.

The 14th must be Walter Pipp's lucky day. He cracked out his first homer of the season on April 14, and his second on May 14.

School teachers are umpiring ball games in Chicago. Maybe it'll make the kids perk up in their studies.

The headlock has lost its grip on the public since Strangler Lewis' famous hold slipped off Zibby's bald head.

Placing odds on the Big Fight depends on whether you have French ancestors or not.

Shoots Baseballs Or Bullets

Last winter Warren "Rip" Collins could be found, any day, astride a lanky nag, patrolling the shore of the Rio Grande down along the Mexican border.

Just now he's pitcher or pitcher-huggins' New York Yankee outfit. As soon as he's served his season in the pitcher's box, Rip will be him back to Texas. Cause, as Collins will tell you, "this is whar I belong—right in the saddle, and rarin' to go."

Rip's only been in the select base ball company for a couple of years. Last season he busted in with the Yanks. He took part in 55 games and wound up the season with a record of 14 wins and 8 losses, for hurling percentage of .636.

Has a Good Gun Eye

He admits he doesn't feel quite as much at home in a baseball suit as he does in a western hat, chaps and belt. And his gun eye is a heap better than his batting eye.

Being a full-fledged member of the Texas Rangers, in off baseball season Rip totes a revolver and a rifle. And, can Rip Collins shoot, and er kind of handling.

Big Jess could have come back after that disastrous third round, the fight would have been prolonged and might have gone the limit.

Keeping 'Em Off, His Job In the summer season it's Collins' job to keep runners off the baseball sack. For he winter-time he turns to keeping bandits off his territory. He has had much experience with Mexicans. His station is at Yuleta, Tex., which is about as near to the border as you can get without stepping over the line.

Texas is his home state, he being born in Weatherford back in 1897. His first crack at ball playing was with Dallas in 1915. Five years later he made his entrance into major company, going to the Yanks in a trade. Rip throws right-handed and bats left.

Rip Collins can shoot a lead bullet over the state of Texas as well as he can shoot a leather baseball over the home plate. These pictures show him in his summer and winter costumes. (Left) the finish of a healthy hurl. (Right) tagged out in his Texas ranger outfit.

From either side of the pan he pulls a gun trigger with his right hand. There is more money in baseball for Collins but if it was a case of one or the other lives, the year around, you'd find him astride a horse with a gun in his hand.

APPLETON SENDS STARS INTO MEET

Local School Hopeful of Winning Majority of Points in District Contest

Despite the galaxy of stars entered in the interscholastic track and field meet here Saturday afternoon Appleton high school expects to cop off a majority of the points. The team is well trained and has sufficient men to take part in every event.

Word from Madison indicates the Capital city will send more than a dozen of its best athletes here to prepare them for the state meet in Madison the Saturday following. Ripon and Oshkosh are said to have exceptionally strong squads this year. Little is known of the Neenah and Kaukauna entrants.

Catch H. D. McChesney of Lawrence college, who engineered the meet, is well pleased with the number of entries. The meet was scheduled on very short notice and it was almost impossible to prepare teams in other cities to take part here. It is believed that the number of entries will be more than doubled next year because high schools will begin making preparations early in the season. The track and field game had been almost abandoned in this district since Lawrence ceased holding district meets.

MENASHA LOADED FOR SUNDAY GAME

Formidable Aggregation Will Be Trotted Into Field Against Appleton.

If fans in every city in the Fox River Valley league took as much interest in baseball as they do in Menasha the magnates would have to build a bank to hold all their money. Reports from the up-river city indicate an attendance of at least 2,000 at the opening game with Appleton next Sunday. That is quite a sizable crowd for any city and it is a mob for Menasha.

The Menasha club will present its strongest front against the local crew in the effort to start the season with a win. Cold weather made it necessary to postpone the game with Oshkosh last Sunday.

Manager Bruce Noel has gathered a team which will give a real fight to any team in the state. Bruce will work on the mound part of the time and he has Welzer, a spitball artist, to fall back on in case of emergency. Kammerer, one of the best catchers in this part of the state, will work behind the bat. In addition to Noel and Welzer, Menasha also has Bixby who can work in the box when occasion demands. He will be used in the outfield regularly. Zielinski and Schelanski, in the outfield, assure heavy sticking for the Menasha crew.

Manager Spies probably will start the game with the same team which defeated Kimberly Sunday. Wood will play on first, Boyer on second, Duran at third, Spies on shortstop, Priebe, Weisgerber and Murphy in the outfield. The team appeared to be quite well balanced Sunday and no change will be made unless succeeding games prove them necessary.

Weisgerber looked good in the outfield. He bagged a number of difficult blows to his garden and performed fairly well with the stick, cracking out a hit which was instrumental in scoring Appleton's first run. He covers a lot of territory in the outfield and plays the game as if he likes it.

Sport Views And News

While there may be some difference of opinion over the ethics of making a bid for prominent high school athletes to attend college because they will help the football or basketball teams, lovers of sport are mighty glad that Lawrence at last is really seeking material for its athletic teams and not trying to build them from material which "just happens" to attend the school. The "L" club has opened negotiations with about 100 high school athletes and expects a large number of them to attend the local institution next year. That assures plenty of material for athletic teams and makes it easier to turn out winners. Winners help advertise the college and draw the fans. A losing team is not a good advertiser; neither does it help pay expenses of athletics.

Richie Mitchell's days in the prize ring are numbered. That was quite evident to fans who saw him perform against Johnny Mendelsohn in a Milwaukee ring this week. Richie's reverse at the hands of Champion Benny Leonard and then his unexpected defeat in Buffalo where he was knocked out by Rocky Kansas sent him down hill. Fans generally regret that this has happened. Richie is a good, clean fighter and it would have been mighty fine to have a real, honest-to-goodness champion in Wisconsin. Richie did not quite measure up to that, however, and Badgers will have to wait awhile longer for that distinction.

Bruning, Neb. Did you ever hear of the place? No, neither did we until we glimpsed a story that this corn husking village of about 500 inhabitants were dickering for the services of Eddie Cicotte, a member of the Black Sox tribe, and what's more they have raised a purse of $5,000 to bring him into the corn belt for the baseball season. The hunter for world series fame (?) might do well to grab the offer. Possibly out there they haven't yet found out about the scandal of 1919.

Look out for the White Sox. Gleason's magis seem to have found themselves and they are playing real baseball. Their string of victories over the Philadelphia Mackerels was somewhat surprising. During this series, Chicago played real bang up baseball and the recruit hurlers really looked like major leaguers. Nothing would please the baseball world at large any better than to have the Darned Hose keep up their gall and continue their climb up the ladder in Ben Johnson's circuit.

CARPENTIER RESTING WHILE DEMPSEY HUSTLES

By United Press Leased Wire New York. — Widely divergent scenes are being enacted in the training camps of the two glove gladiators who will decide the world's championship in Jersey City July.

Dempsey, the champion, is battering his sparring partners around in Atlantic City. Carpentier, the challenger, is resting at Manhasset. Beyond taking a little walk, Carpentier has done nothing yet and his trainers say he will remain in comparative inactivity until the first week of June. From all appearance, he is still suffering from the effects of his voyage.

He looks five years older than he did when he made his first trip over here last summer.

His general appearance and attitude impressed me as one who has lost interest in his work and thinks—"I wish it were all over."

4TH WARD TO HAVE P. T. ASSOCIATION

Parents Decide to Have Organization—Work of Pupils Exhibited.

Residents of the Fourth ward will have a Parent-Teacher association in connection with the Fourth district school as the result of action taken at an exhibit and social gathering in the school building Wednesday evening.

A tentative organization will be formed and a charter will be obtained from the state, after which officers will be elected.

Open house was conducted by the Fourth district pupils from 7:30 to 9:30. The parents were escorted through each room beginning with the kindergarten, giving opportunity to see how the pupils are developed in their work. Displays of drawings, manual training and sewing were arranged in each room.

A. G. Oosterhuis, principal of the First district, spoke to the parents on the value, scope and purposes of a parent-teacher organization and told what was being done in the First district. A vote was taken by which the people went on record as favoring one and directing that organization steps be taken.

The evening concluded with a social hour during which there was a lively spelling bee. All words were spelled backwards. Folk dancing and social dancing were enjoyed.

Is Your Work Wearing You Out?

Are you working day in and day out with a dull, dragging backache? Is your work slowly weakening your kidneys? Many kinds of work wear out the kidneys, and kidneys trouble makes any work hard. It brings morning lameness, backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness, and distressing urinary disorders. If your work strains your kidneys, help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Workers everywhere rely on Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

URGES FAIR TRIAL FOR CONVENTIONS

Under it, by a proper petition filed in the then circuit court of the United States, by electors of a congressional district, within the circuit, the circuit judge of the court was given power to appoint a chief supervisor of elections, who was authorized to appoint a supervisor for each election precinct in the district. The duty of the precinct supervisor was to direct the election officers provided in the present under the state law, and to see to it that they performed their duty.

The United States Marshal was authorized to appoint special deputies, with the authority of the court, to guard the election precincts and to maintain peace and order and to prevent fraud and intimidation. Whether an analogous plan securing economy of money and effort could be adopted for the purpose now sought must be considered. The use of the agency of the judiciary in such a matter is to be deprecated.

Convention Plan Best

One thing is clear, however, and that is that if a constitutional amendment is to be adopted, congress should be given complete discretion to prescribe a primary or the convention

system for the selection of candidates. The rigid requirement for a primary should not be fixed in our fundamental law as the only method. The old convention method, with no safeguards in the selection of delegates, it was often made the tool of bosses and corrupt leaders. But the convention is a logical development of the representative system, which has stood us in such good stead in our government. The convention system has not had as fair a trial under present conditions as the primary has had. The selection of delegates to the old convention was not surrounded with the safeguards that obtain in modern regulations of the primaries. The primaries have been on trial for a number of years in this country and it is certain that they have developed a great many faults which make careful observers doubt the wisdom of their continuance and hope for a restoration of the party convention, with proper safeguards.

There are many objections to the primaries and the abolition of convention which experience has developed. The chief of them is the interference with the legitimate control which a party should exercise in the selection of its candidates and the declaration of its policies. Parties are indispensable to effective popular government. They have a right to determine who shall lead them and what principles their leaders shall carry into government. Under the general primary system the members of the party do not control either. Party discipline is broken up. There is no party responsibility in selecting the candidates. It is impossible under the general primary in a large constituency to exclude voters who in spirit and in fact are affiliated with one party from attempting to control and often successfully, the selection of candidates for the ticket of the other party. This is a fraud and a destruction of a wholesome party system, and has led to demoralizing results. In the convention system with delegates selected at small primaries properly safeguarded, it is entirely practical to limit the delegates taking part in the convention to those regularly and honestly affiliated with the party whose convention it is.
